Role: Clinical Supervisor at MumsAid
Part-time (7.5 hours per week): £42,000 pro rata

MumsAid is a maternal mental health charity based in Greenwich. We believe passionately that pregnancy and new motherhood can be an exciting, but also challenging, time, and that the right support can make a difference, not just to mothers but to the healthy emotional development of their babies, and the well-being of their families and communities. Our core service is to provide free counselling for women experiencing mental health issues or emotional difficulties during pregnancy or after having a baby (up to two years postpartum). For further information, please visit www.mums-aid.org.

We have recently undergone a significant expansion in our clinical services and would now like to add to our supervisory team. The majority of our clinicians are psychotherapy students on placement with us, though some are already qualified.

The initial contract would be for six months with the potential for extension, subject to securing further funding.

The current COVID-19 pandemic has placed more pressure on our services and we are therefore keen to recruit speedily in response to this need.

Candidates must be UKCP/BACP/HCPC registered, have more than five years post-qualification experience and a minimum of two years supervisory experience. A knowledge, understanding of, and commitment to the field of perinatal mental health is also an essential requirement.
